

Essay:

Allama Iqbal

"The stars are the destination of the man of courage."

~Allama Muhammad Iqbal

Allama Muhammad Iqbal is one of the greatest personalities in the history of Pakistan. He is known as our National Poet because his poetry awakened the Muslims of the subcontinent and inspired them to work for a separate homeland. His ideas, deep wisdom, and love for Islam made him one of the most respected poets and philosophers of the modern world. His poetry still guides millions of people towards knowledge, faith, and self-respect.

"Nations are born in the hearts of poets."

~Allama Muhammad Iqbal

Allama Iqbal was born on 9th November 1877 in Sialkot, Punjab. His father, Sheikh Noor Muhammad, was a pious and simple man, while his mother, Imam Bibi, was kind and caring. From his parents, Iqbal learned honesty, kindness, and strong religious values. His childhood played an important role in shaping his noble character.

Iqbal received his early education in Sialkot. He later studied at Government College Lahore, where he became a brilliant student. His teachers recognized his intelligence and encouraged him to continue his studies. His love for knowledge helped him achieve great success in education.

“Words, without power, are mere philosophy.”

~Allama Muhammad Iqbal

After completing his education in India, Allama Iqbal went to England and Germany for higher studies. He studied law and philosophy at famous universities. He earned a doctorate from the University of Munich in Germany. His education abroad broadened his knowledge and helped him become an internationally respected scholar.

“Seek knowledge from the cradle to the grave.”

~Prophet Muhammad (Pbuh)

Allama Iqbal wrote beautiful poetry in both Urdu and Persian. His poems encourage people to believe in themselves, work hard, and never lose hope. He believed that every person has great potential and should develop self-confidence. His message of Khudi (Selfhood) teaches us to become strong in character and faith.

“Raise yourself to such heights that before every destiny, God Himself asks, ‘Tell me, what is your wish?’”

~Allama Muhammad Iqbal

Iqbal's poetry is full of hope, courage, and determination. He advised young people to dream big and work hard to achieve their goals. According to him, success comes through faith, effort, and perseverance. His poems continue to motivate students and inspire them to become useful members of society.

“Dream is not that which you see while sleeping; it is something that does not let you sleep.”

~Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam

Allama Iqbal had great faith in the youth. He believed that the future of a nation depends upon its young generation. He wanted students to become educated, disciplined, honest, and hardworking. He encouraged them to serve their religion, their country, and humanity with sincerity. According to Iqbal, the youth have the power to change the future of a nation through knowledge, hard work, and strong character. His inspiring message continues to motivate young people to dream big and achieve great success.

“Today's youth are tomorrow's leaders.”

~Nelson Mandela

Allama Iqbal dreamed of a separate homeland where Muslims could live according to their religion and values. In 1930, during his famous Allahabad Address, he presented the idea of a separate Muslim state. His vision later became the foundation for the creation of Pakistan in 1947. His ideas inspired the Muslims of the subcontinent to unite and work together for their rights. Today, Pakistan proudly remembers him as one of the greatest thinkers and visionaries in its history. “Faith, Unity, Discipline.”

Because of his inspiring ideas, Allama Iqbal is also known as the Spiritual Father of Pakistan. His thoughts awakened the Muslims and united them under one vision. His poetry gave people courage, confidence, and hope during difficult times. His contribution to the Pakistan Movement can never be forgotten. His vision encouraged the Muslims to believe in their identity and work together for a brighter future. Even today, his inspiring message continues to guide and motivate the people of Pakistan.

“The pen is mightier than the sword.”

~Edward Bulwer-Lytton

Some of Allama Iqbal's famous books are Bang-e-Dra, Bal-e-Jibreel, Zarb-e-Kaleem, Asrar-e-Khudi, and Rumuz-e-Bekhudi. These books contain valuable about faith, education, self-respect, and humanity. They are still read and admired by people all over the world. Students, scholars, and readers continue to study his books to understand his inspiring ideas and philosophy. His literary works remain a valuable treasure of Urdu and Persian literature.

“Books are the quietest and most constant of friends.”

~Charles W. Eliot

Iqbal believed that education is the key to success and national progress. He wanted every Muslim to gain knowledge and use it for the betterment of society.

According to him, education should not only increase knowledge but also build good character and moral values.

“Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.”

~Nelson Mandela

One of the greatest lessons we learn from Allama Iqbal is the importance of good character. He taught people to be truthful, brave, humble, and responsible. He believed that true success is achieved through honesty, hard work, and strong moral values rather than wealth or power.

“Character is higher than intellect.”

~Ralph Waldo Emerson

Even today, Allama Iqbal's poetry remains fresh and meaningful. His ideas continue to inspire students, teachers, leaders, and thinkers. His message encourages us to believe in ourselves, work hard, and never stop learning. His vision is as important today as it was many years ago. His poetry is taught in schools and universities to inspire the younger generation. By following his teachings, we can build a brighter future for ourselves and our nation.

"The future belongs to those who prepare for it today."

~Malcolm X

Through his poetry and writings, Allama Iqbal changed the thinking of millions of people without using weapons or force. His powerful words awakened a sleeping nation and gave people hope for a brighter future. This is why he is remembered as one of the greatest poets in history. His inspiring poetry continues to be recited at national events, educational institutions, and literary gatherings. His words remind us that ideas and knowledge have the power to bring

"Knowledge is power."

~Francis Bacon

Every year on 9th November, Pakistan celebrates Iqbal Day to honor his services and remember his contributions. Schools, colleges, and universities organize speech competitions, poetry recitations, and special events to pay tribute to him. It is a day to remember his great vision and inspiring message.

“Great minds discuss ideas.”

~Eleanor Roosevelt

In conclusion, Allama Muhammad Iqbal was not only a great poet but also a great philosopher, thinker, and leader. He devoted his life to awakening the Muslims through his ideas and poetry. His message of faith, knowledge, self-respect, and hard work continues to inspire us today. We should follow teachings, work honestly for our country, and strive to become responsible citizens. His name will always shine brightly in the history of Pakistan.

“Success is the sum of small efforts,
repeated day in and day out.”

~Robert Collier