

Essay:

"My Last Day at School"

// "Time flies over us, but leaves
its shadow behind.."

~Nathaniel Hawthorne

Time flies so quickly, and before we realize, moments we once cherished become memories. It feels like just yesterday when I just walked through the school gates, excited to meet new friends and learn new things. The happiness of joining school, making friends, and exploring a new world is unforgettable. Now, that journey has come to an end, leaving behind a mixture of joy and sadness.

// "How lucky I am to have something that makes saying goodbye so hard."

~ A.A. Milne

The last day of school is always special and emotional. On that day, my heart was filled with mixed feelings, excitement for the future and sorrow for leaving a place that had been like a second home. Tears naturally flow when I remember that day. That was the day we realized that our school, which was full of laughter, has come to an end.

Our last day was celebrated with a farewell party arranged by our school principal, who wanted to give us a day to remember forever. The juniors of the 9th class had put in tremendous effort to organize the event, decorating the halls with colorful banners, balloons, and ribbons. Every corner of the school radiated joy and celebration, reminding us of the years we had spent within these walls. There was a feeling of excitement in the air, mixed with a gentle sadness, as we realized that these familiar surroundings would soon be part of our memories. The day was filled with festive and emotional feelings.

"Education is not the filling of a pail, but the lighting of a fire."

~ W. B. Yeats

The event began with a beautiful recitation of Holy Quran. It was a moment that reminded us of the values we had learned and the guidance our school had provided. After that, the national anthem was sung, and standing there together with all the students, I felt the sense of pride and unity, a strong bond that tied us all to this school. Following the anthem, several fun games were organized to engage everyone and bring smiles to our faces. Watching the juniors enthusiastically participate to make us feel special was heartwarming.

After the games, the juniors showcased their talents through plays and songs dedicated entirely to us. Each performance was carefully prepared and emotionally touching, bringing back memories of the laughter, challenges, and friendships we had experienced throughout our school years. Applause, cheers, and even ^{quite} snuffles filled the hall as we ~~am~~ realized the effort and love that went into their presentations. Finally, our principal took the stage and delivered a heartwarming and inspiring speech. He reminded us of the values we had learned, encouraged us to chase our dreams with determination, and wished us the best journey ahead.

"Memories are timeless treasures of the heart."

After the program, everyone gathered to enjoy a delicious meal. We sat in our familiar groups sharing food, jokes and memories of our playful mischiefs and unforgettable moments. I sat with my closest friends and as we ate, we recalled countless incidents, some funny, some embarrassing and some heartwarming. We laughed over the pranks we played, the lessons we struggled with, and the secrets we shared, realizing how deeply we had grown together over the years.

"Friendship is the only cement that will ~~can~~ hold the world together."

~Woodrow Wilson

Later, we went to our teachers one by one to collect their signatures and wishes in our diaries, using colorful pens. Each message was filled with love, guidance, and encouragement. We also clicked a memorable photograph with our teachers and friends, capturing a moment that we will cherish forever. As the final moment approached, sorrow filled the air. Some of us cried, unable to hide our emotions, realizing that this chapter of life had ended.

"A photograph is a pause button on life."

~Ty Holland

The day ended with a mixture of sadness and gratitude. As we left the school gates for the last time, I looked back at the building that had been our home for so many years. Memories of laughter, lessons, friendship, and care flashed before my eyes. Though we were stepping into a new journey, the bond and memories of school will remain in our hearts forever, reminding us that no matter where life takes us, our school will always be a part of us.

"Do not cry because it's over,
smile because it happened."

~Dr. Seuss